CONFERENCE HOSTS

The Hungry Cities Partnership (HCP) is an international network of cities and city-based partner organizations which focuses on the relationships between rapid urbanization, informality, inclusive growth and urban food systems in the Global South. The HCP conducts collaborative research, training and advocacy with the objective of providing innovative solutions to the challenge of building sustainable cities and policies and programs that promote food security in cities. The HCP currently operates in Canada, China, India, Jamaica, Kenya, Mexico, Mozambique, Namibia and South Africa and is funded by the International Partnerships for Sustainable Development (IPaSS) program of the International Development Research Centre (IDRC) and the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC).

The International Migration Research Centre (IMRC) serves as a node of excellence in scholarship and research, social and cultural debate, and policy formulation pertaining to international migration. Its mission is to create platforms for debate, policy analysis, and community engagement related to international migration and mobility at global, national, regional and local scales. Our research is relevant to practice and policymaking around the international governance of migration, mobilities, critical border issues, diaspora and development, displacement, labour migration, transnationalism, human security, and migrants' rights. The IMRC also aims to impart the findings and of this research to government and other enabling and intermediary organizations working in migration and refugee studies.
